Noah: A Faith That Pleases God
Genesis 6:5-9, 17-22; 8:20-22

The Point: Living by faith begins with a righteous relationship with God.
The Bible Meets Life: At work, few things are more dreaded than the end-of-the-year job review. Superiors often complete it in a hurry, struggling to find good or bad things to say about their subordinates. As computers have found their way into every corner of the economy, a digital footprint of every minute of the workday can turn these reviews into a subjective take on the numbers.

In addition, we willingly allow our personal devices to record every non-working moment of our day. In the right hands, producing a record of good or bad behavior for every second of our lives would be easy. Do we want government officials, strangers, or even those closest to us to know everything about us?

We sometimes forget that God can see our every action, read our thoughts, and even know our intentions. He can do this because it is His nature. How does God respond to all the things He knows about us? He responds with judgment or grace, depending upon our relationship with Him.

God knew everything about Noah, yet God walked with Noah and called him righteous. Let's lean in and learn more about Noah's relationship with God.

Live It Out: Confess. Do you want a living faith in God? Living faith begins by establishing a relationship with God through Jesus Christ. Grow. Your relationship with God must grow. Your faith will grow as you learn more about the God of your faith. Before you became a follower of Jesus, your faith may have been in your career, your money, your education, or your family. Now, your faith is in the Creator and Sustainer of the universe. Study the Bible and His Spirit will help you grow. Share. Your faith is meant to be shared. Talk with someone who is far from God about the ways God has made Himself known to you. You can begin by sharing how God saved Noah!
