Lottie Moon Christmas Offering Milestone

Remarking on the recent Lottie Moon Christmas Offering season, Paul Chitwood (IMB President) commended the generosity of Southern Baptists that undergirds the work of the IMB.

“Southern Baptists will soon cross an incredible milestone in their Great Commission generosity,” Chitwood said. “As of [early February], the cumulative giving of Southern Baptists through the Lottie Offering is $4,928,312,063.18. And here is what is going to happen in March of 2021: Southern Baptists will exceed $5 billion given through the Lottie offering, every penny of which has been used overseas to share Christ with a lost and dying world.”

Connecting to Christ's Body (1 Corinthians 12:12-24)

The Point: Spiritual growth calls for regular interaction with and ministry to other believers.

The Bible Meets Life: In April 1970, Apollo 13 was headed to the moon when disaster struck. An oxygen tank exploded, forcing NASA to abort the mission. To save power they would need later for re-entry, the astronauts moved from the Service Module to the Lunar Module.

This created a new problem. The Lunar Module was designed for two people, and there was not enough air for three men to last the trip home. The buildup of carbon dioxide threatened their lives. They would need to replace the CO2 scrubbers to clean the air, but the only spare ones were built for the Service Module and didn't fit the Lunar Module.

On the ground, NASA put together an improvised scrubber using random parts they knew the astronauts had. The instructions were transmitted and the astronauts assembled the makeshift scrubber. It worked and three lives were saved. But no one person can take credit for this. It took a collection of engineers and technicians working together to come up with the solution.

Our spiritual growth is the same. We need the support and input from others—and they need ours.

Live It Out: How will you deepen your involvement with other believers and serve them? Choose one of the following applications: Talk to someone new. Get to know someone in your church you do not know or do not know well. Make an intentional effort to build a relationship with the person. Restore a relationship. If you are at odds with someone in your church, get together with the person and seek to work out the problem. If you need to confess a wrong attitude or wrong behavior, then do it, and seek to restore that relationship. Step out and serve. Use some of your vacation time to immerse yourself in a new culture and serve a people group that is unfamiliar to you. Be part of a mission work that serves the body of Christ in another culture or setting.
